

November 2008

Can it be that there are only 2 months left in 2008??? Wow, time has flown by. Must be a good indication that life is busy – and fun! First and foremost, we have been blessed with the addition on twin baby girls to the family, born October 16. Daughter Kate delivered a full 8 weeks early. Babies' names are Addison Virginia and Evelyn Cora. Sweet names for sweet babies. With the middle names they have (mine and their other grandmother – HI CORA!!)) these girls will go far. We're looking forward to summer vacations with the girls here in Maine.

All the trees are bare at this point and we had our first snow October 22 (just a flurry) and the second on October 29, a full fledged dusting. We've been busy battening down the hatches, stowing the screens and cleaning the windows – want to make sure the mountain views are the best they can be! Especially the first time you look out and see the snow covered mountain tops.

We've also finished the siding on the front side of the barn, thanks to son Adam and his dad Mark. David and I relocated a few piles of wood and now have a real parking lot! We are grateful for our guests' understanding of our less than completed project.

Star Barn Uniques has continued to do very well, with 19 vendors now. Sales have been great for the last 5 months. We will start putting photos of some of the items on the website soon and be happy to accept your order through the website!

The first Star Barn Yoga Retreat is currently scheduled for January 30-February 1, 2009. We're busy lining up folks to bring us workshops on acupuncture, reiki, meditation, and restorative yoga. I will also lead a few classes as well as prepare the meals. Look for more on that soon.

Perhaps you are considering a holiday trip to New England this year? We hope you will consider Star Barn B&B for your lodging. Although we are a B&B, we will consider the occasional evening meal for weary snowmobilers, skiers, snowshoers, and anyone else who may not want to travel the snowy roads at night. Until next time....
