

June 6, 2007

Summer must be on the way. The toads and frogs have finished laying their eggs in the pond and the grass needs mowing every 4 days. But that's ok. What a beautiful time of year in Madrid. Every tree is lushly leafy. All the perennials survived winter and many are getting ready to bloom. And as you can see from the photo, Ginni is making friends with the humming birds. Come for a visit and you too can have them

.....eating out of your hand!

We've taken over the work on the B&B at this point. David is finishing the insulation, and Ginni is getting ready to paint the exterior trim. Then up goes the sheet rock and down goes the finish floor. The yoga studio is just about ready to start using. It will be wonderful to have lots of space and high ceilings and an awesome view while practicing our tree poses and proud warriors. Ginni hopes to get several classes going, including chair classes for those unable to comfortably get down to the floor, as well as an adult/youth class; an opportunity for parents/guardians/grandparents, or whoever to enjoy a fun yet beneficial time with the children in their life. Once we're up and running, yoga retreats are definitely on the menu at this Bed and Breakfast!

We had really hoped to have the whole package up and running by June 1. Well, that didn't happen. But for the time being Star Barn Uniques is housed in a cozy corner of the Guest House kitchen. Maine made crafts are there for your viewing and purchasing pleasure. There are many talented people in the area who offer wonderful gifts for children and adults. You don't have to be an overnight guest to take advantage of the gift shop. Stop by anytime!

If you're thinking about coming this way during the summer, please give us a call to reserve a room for you. We promise you won't be disappointed.
